

Transports water and nutrients to all the parts of the plant.	Anchors the plant in place.
Creates seeds so that a new plant can grow.	Holds up the plant.
Attracts bees to help spread pollen.	Absorbs water and nutrients from the soil.
Makes food from sunlight and carbon dioxide in the air.	